

Keason and Hailey Holder

Warner Robins

Having the support of your community is a powerful force when facing life's toughest challenges.

On her first birthday, May 16, 2019, Hailey Holder was diagnosed with Stage IV Alveolar Rhabdomyosarcoma, an aggressive cancer. Two months later, 2-year-old Keason was diagnosed with Ewing-like Sarcoma. Two toddlers from Warner Robins, Georgia were fighting a similar battle.

Keason and Hailey Holder shared 10 months of being on the same treatment schedule; weeks of being neighbors during their inpatient stays. During her time on the General Pediatrics floor, Hailey Holder would walk across the hall to wake up her friend and neighbor. "Up Keas, up!" she would say.

What a blessing to have an unforeseen friendship to help carry you through this journey!
